WVSGH Customized Rewards and Recognition Policy and Guidelines

WVSGH PRIME - HRM

CUSTOMIZED REWARDS AND RECOGNITION POLICY OF THE ORGANIZATION

I. BACKGROUND

Section 3, Article IX-B of the 1987 Constitution vests on the Civil Service Commission (CSC) the mandate and responsibility as the central personnel agency of the Government. It is tasked to adopt measures to promote morale, efficiency, integrity, responsiveness, progressiveness, and courtesy in the civil service; strengthen the merit and rewards system; integrate all human resources development programs for all levels and ranks; and institutionalize a management climate conducive to public accountability.

In the exercise of its mandate, the CSC has continuously adopted various programs which give due regard to government officials and employees who perform their functions with utmost dedication, and uphold public interest over personal interest at all times.

Section 35, Chapter 5, Subtitle A, Title 1, Book V of Executive Order (EO) No. 292 (the Revised Administrative Code of 1987) directs the establishment of a government-wide Employee Suggestions and Incentive Awards System (ESIAS) to be administered in accordance with Civil Service Law, rules, regulations and standards.

Republic Act (RA) No. 6713 (the Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards for Public Officials and Employees) enacted on February 20, 1989 and its Implementing Rules and Regulations established a System of Incentives and Rewards and created for the purpose a Committee on Awards to Outstanding Public Officials and Employees with the following composition: the Ombudsman and the CSC Chairman as Co-Chairmen; and the Chairman of the Commission on Audit, and two government employees to be appointed by the President, as Members.

On January 26, 2001, the CSC issued Memorandum Circular No.1, s. 2001 enjoining the implementation of the Program on Awards and Incentives for Service Excellence (PRAISE) in every agency of the government. This used to be known as the ESIAS under Section 35 of EO 292. The emphasis of PRAISE is on performance, innovative ideas, and exemplary behavior.

In response to the CSC's campaign for merit-oriented and performance-driven recognition, the Department issued Administrative Order No. 87, s. 2002 and Department Order No. 2009-0256 prescribing in the organization the mechanics of recognition through the PRAISE.

However, in order to align the PRAISE policies and programs with the Philippine Health Agenda and in furtherance of the CSC's Program to Institutionalize Meritocracy and Excellence in Human Resource Management (PRIME-HRM), the Department finds it imperative to promulgate this Revised Implementing Guidelines of the DOH PRAISE.

Anent to this, therefore, with the commencement of PRIME-HRM implementation in the organization, as included on its 10-Year Development Plan, particularly in Human Resource Management Road Maps, and as a strategic and a core process of the organization in pursuit of becoming a 500-bed Level 3 Certified Green Medical Center and Sanitarium with Toxicology and Infectious Disease Specialty Center serving Region VI by 2030, the Western Visayas Sanitarium and General Hospital (WVSGH) shall generally adopt and retain certain fundamental policies indicated in this DOH order and shall find their better integration with its existing unique context and processes aligned to the organizational vision and strategic direction.

II. OBJECTIVES

More than simply compliance to the DOH Revised Implementing Guidelines on PRAISE, this Order aims to:

1. Customize and introduce R&R policies, processes and programs, including structures and roles, while recognizing the important contributions of information technology system, proper and fitting to the organizational context and to a more effective attainment of its strategic vision and direction;

2. Establish and add functions to the R&R Committee to better address unique needs and requirements of the organization;

3. Establish monitoring and tracking mechanisms for the efficiency of the R&R processes and for improvement of its system within the organization; and

4. Maintain documents and records of R&R process flow, its system review data and implementation, though a computer-based system.

The organization's principal concern is the timeliness of giving the award and recognition. Besides the planned awarding ceremonies are the prompt or immediate recognitions which shall be conducted by the HR, such as an "on the spot" grant of recognition. Nevertheless, the organization shall ensure posting of the name/s of the nominee/s and awardee/s in designated bulletin boards for process transparency and equal opportunity for all in monitoring.

The organization shall maintain the Order of ensuring at all times strict observance of the principle of equal opportunity and non-discrimination to all of its officials and employees on account of political or religious affiliations, sex, sexual orientation and gender identity, civil status, age, nature of job's appointment, disability, or ethnicity, in its PRAISE implementation.

III. SCOPE

This Order shall apply to all Plantilla employees at all levels of the organization.

Dependent on the hospital income and the availability of funds supported by benefactors and donors for this particular program, the organization may incorporate contact of service employees to such, or may establish another program relative or similar to such, depending on the discernment and creativeness of the establish PRAISE Committee of the organization.

Still subject to prior submission to and approval of the Department Secretary and Civil Service Commission (CSC), the organization shall ensure its established R&R system aligned to and in furtherance of the strategic goals and priorities of the Department of Health (DOH) and shall likewise ensure a working coherent partnership between them is maintained at all times.

IV. DEFINITION OF TERMS

For purposes of this customized R&R Policy, the following terms shall be defined as:

1 . Attached Agencies — refer to offices that have lateral relationship with a particular Department for purposes of policy and program coordination. The authority of the Department concerned is to oversee the operations of these agencies to ensure that they are managed effectively, efficiently, and economically but without interfering with day to-day operations. For purposes of clarity, the attached agencies of the Department are the following: 1) National Nutrition Council, 2) Philippine Health Insurance Corporation, and 3) Philippine Institute for Traditional and Alternative Health Care.

2. Award — refers to recognition (monetary or non-monetary) conferred to an individual or group of individuals for ideas, suggestions, inventions, discoveries, superior accomplishments, exemplary behavior, heroic deeds, extraordinary acts or services in the public interest which contribute to the efficiency, economy, and improvement in the Department's operations leading to organizational productivity.

3. Career service — refers to positions in the civil service characterized by 1) entrance based on merit and fitness to be determined, as far as practicable, by competitive examinations or based on highly technical qualifications; 2) opportunity for advancement to higher career positions; and 3) security of tenure.

4. Contribution — refers to any input which can be in the form of an idea or performance

5. Department — refers to the Department of Health and its offices.

6. Incentive — refers to monetary or non-monetary motivation or privilege given to an official or employee for contributions, suggestions, inventions, ideas, satisfactory accomplishment or demonstration of exemplary behavior based on agreed performance standards and norms of behavior.

7. Motivation – refers to the very sense of willingness and commitment of an employee to perform and thus accomplish his/her targets and objectives proper in a given position. Motivation can be intrinsic or extrinsic. The former consists in engaging in task for enjoyment, pleasures of carrying it out, and inherent desire to use and develop his/her capacity; the latter consist in performing task for known external rewards or consequences – be it tangible or psychological.

V. NORMS OF CONDUCT FOR PUBLIC OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES

Section 1, Article 1 of the 1987 Constitution sets the standard of accountability in public service when it provides "Public office is a public trust. Public officers and employees must at all times be accountable to the people, serve them with utmost responsibility, integrity, loyalty, and efficiency, act with patriotism and justice, and lead modest lives."

The above-quoted constitutional provision becomes all the more significant in the light of Section 27 of the Constitution which declares the State policy that 'The State shall maintain honesty and integrity in the public service and take positive and effective measures against graft and corruption".

In carrying out the constitutional mandate, Section 2 of RA 6713 provides that it is the policy of the State "to promote a high standard of ethics in public service and public officials and employees shall at all times be accountable to the people and shall discharge their duties with utmost responsibility, integrity, competence, and loyalty, act with patriotism and justice, lead modest lives, and uphold public interest over personal interest."

Under Section 4 of RA 6713, public officials and employees have the responsibility to observe the following Norms of Conduct in the performance of their official duties:

Commitment to public interest --- Public officials and employees shall always uphold public interest over personal interest. They shall use the government resources and powers of their offices efficiently, effectively, honestly and economically so as to avoid wastage in public funds and revenues.

Commitment to democracy --- Public officials and employees shall commit themselves to the democratic way of life, maintain the principle of public accountability, and show by actions the supremacy of civilian authority over the military. They shall give primacy to the Constitution and loyalty to country over loyalty to party.

Professionalism --- Public officials and employees shall perform their duties with the highest degree of excellence. They shall commit to serve the public with utmost dedication.

Justness and sincerity --- Public officials and employees shall give everyone his /her due, always mindful of the rights of others. They shall refrain from doing acts which are contrary to law, good morals, good customs, public policy or public order. They shall not extend undue favors on account of their office to their relatives whether by consanguinity or affinity except with respect to appointments to primarily confidential positions or to those whose term is coterminous with the appointing authority.

Responsiveness to the public --- Public officials and employees shall provide prompt, courteous, efficient, accurate and adequate service. They must adopt systems that will simplify rules and procedures and avoid red tape to facilitate the delivery of service to the public. They shall establish mechanisms to ensure public consultations and hearings.

Political neutrality --- Public officials and employees shall not discriminate in rendering service, and shall serve the public regardless of party affiliation or preference.

Nationalism and Patriotism --- Public officials and employees shall be loyal to the Republic and to the Filipino people, show at all times respect to the Philippine Flag and the National Anthem, promote the use of locally produced goods and technology, and encourage appreciation and pride of country and people.

Simple living --- Public officials and employees shall lead modest lives appropriate to their positions and income. They shall not indulge in extravagant or ostentatious display of wealth.

Moreover, the chapter 4 of our 10-Year "Development Options" stated the WVSGH established Core-Values which every employee of the organization ought to imbibe and enliven into their daily work and endeavors – that is, integrity, compassion, responsiveness, and excellence.

"Our Commitment, your Care"

Integrity – Employees of WVSGH shall always uphold truth and shall pursue honesty, accountability, and consistency in performing his/her functions.

Compassion – Employees of WVSGH shall always provide care with dignity, concern, and kindness and shall respect human dignity at all times by working with sympathy and benevolence for the people in need.

Responsiveness – Employees of WVSGH shall provide attention, prompt service, flexibility and be able to customize service according to the patient needs and satisfaction.
